

Augustinian Spiritual Communion Prayer

Great are You, O Lord, and worthy of all praise.

You have made us and drawn us to Yourself, and our hearts are restless, longing for Your Presence.

Though we cannot now all gather in person, still, You ceaselessly call us around Your table, where the mystery of our life in You is offered.

Even now, while we cannot receive You sacramentally, we pray that You continue to pour Your love into our hearts.

As many grains form one loaf, and many grapes, one cup, so may we all be in communion as one body in Christ.

Grant that Your love may stir us to love one another, and sustain us in mind and heart on our journey towards You that, with Augustine and all the saints, we may make our "Amen" true. Amen
